MISCELLANEOUS.

ABOUT A BAROMETER.

It was near eight o'clock in the evening, when the overseer of a plantation in the interior of this State was aroused from a half and half kind of a stupor, caused by the combined influences of the heat of the weather and the odor of some genuine Havana leaf, by the shrill cry of 'House!

'Haint there nappy to hum here!' Jim, shouted the overseer, looking towards the negro quarters, 'go to the gate and see what on earth all that bawling's for?'

Obediently, Jim hastily unbared the gate, and there drove up one of those nondescript vehicles known as a yankee pedlar's wagon. There emerged from the vehicle aformentioned a curious specimen of nature's handiwork. He was a tall, slim man, with a pair of small, twinkling grey eyes; a nose whose only occupation seemed to be to sniff and twitch whenever its owner spoke. The mouth of the individual was ornamented with a slight pucker, and his whole appearance denoted that he wished to place himself in the smallest space possible. In proof of this, his bell-crowned hat stuck directly on the top of his head; his coat and vest had evidently belonged to a younger brother, and his pantaloons fitted him like India rubber. Yes, in one thing he was profuse, and that was he termed 'his hair.' It was beautiful hair in color a delicate ginger, or may be what the urchins would call 'a yaller taffy color.' It was combed behind his ears and fell in graceful negligence on the back of his coat. In fact, to take him for 'all in all' at first sight, one would be impressed with the idea that Nature had made Joel Spry, for such was his name, at the very lowest terms, of the most ordinary material, and on the very cheapest scale.

'Wa-al,' said he, after surveying Mr. Simmons, the overseer, for a second, or two, 'your name be ant Hodson,—no, not Hodson, Tomkins; no, darn the name!—And after studying that book on nummochinhy, (mnemochinhy) too, that tells allers what people forgot, only to think that I can't think of. Oh, now I got it! Your name be ant a-a Jenk—I say mister, what might be your name?'

'Simmons,' answered the overseer, 'you won the debt fairly—take the things, and keep 'em, and never say again that you never knew an honest yankee pedlar.'

'Well, well, good bye,' said Simmons, 'I wanted to teach one of you d—d yankees a lesson, and I guess that I've given you what you deserve.'

'Wa-al,' sobbed Mr. Spry in a most melancholy tone, 'it can't be help'd.—Good bye, Simmons. Git up, Nabby; git up, you tornal crittur!' So saying he applied the lash to Nabby, and she moved away at an astonishing rate. When Spry had got outside the gate, he turned around and said in a loud nasal tone:—I say, Simmons! them boxes of mine is full of goods. Full to the brim with brickbats and cornstalks! Got a week's board and lodging, and horse feed for nothin'. I know it was agoin' to rain for a week, and that I could not travel! That barometer of mine is patent and no mistake, I say, Simon's, how is old Jake's toes?

'Gee up, Nabby!'
Here, Jim, get me my gun?' said Simmons in a terrible fury.

'I'll drad the load out afore you was up this morning,' shouted Spry, who was now out of danger.

'Well,' said Simmons almost out of breath with anger, 'If ever I see a yankee pedlar on this plantation again, if I don't shoot at him I may loose a year's pay, and be d—d into the bargain!' —N. O. Delta.

A NIGHT AMONG THE WOLVES.

BY JOHN J. WHITTIER.

"The gaunt wolf, Scentsing the place of slaughter, with his long And most offensive howl did ask for food."

"Twas a night of January, 17—. We had been to a fine quilting frolic, about two miles from our settlement of four or five log houses. 'Twas rather late—about 12 o'clock, I should guess—when the party broke up. There was no moon, and a dull, gray shadow of haze hung around the horizon, while overhead a few pale and sickly looking stars gave us their dull light as they shone through a dingy curtain.

"There were my two sisters and Harry's sister and his sweetheart, the daughter of our next door neighbor. She was a down-right handsome girl—that Caroline Allen. I never saw her equal, though I am no stranger to pretty faces. She was so pleasant and kind of heart—so gentle and sweet spoken, and so intelligent besides, that every body loved her. She had an eye as blue as the hill violet, and her lips were like a red rose leaf in June. No wonder then that Harry Mason loved her—boy though he was—for we had neither of us seen our seventeenth summer.

"Har, massa, har am old Jake!" Jake, what kind of weather are we going to have to-morrow?"

"Cloudy wedder, massa, cloudy wedder. Ole Jake's big toe feel like de debbil to night."

"Wa-al, if that don't beat all that ever I hern tell on, I wish I may be darned! said Mr. Spry, with a horse laugh. 'Only to think, a blind nigger tellin' the state of the weather by his toes! Oh, Jehosaphat!"

"Well air, and what says the barometer?" said Simmons.

"Says? Why it says clear, light winds, and not a drop of rain."

"We'll see," said the overseer. "I'll go up to the house, and put the wiper under the sheet. Mr. Spry, this is your room. Good night, sir."

"Good night, Mr. Simmons. But wait awhile, now, du take care of them boxes. I got nearly four hundred dollars worth of goods in 'em, and if the cubby-gate jump, or the puppies get piled, I shall be ruined."

With this injunction the parties retired to rest.

The next morning, when they awoke the sky was overcast, and the aspect of nature portended a long, cold winter.

"Aha, what did old Jake tell you Mr. Spry," was the first remark of the overseer.

"Wa-al, now, the quicksilver in my barometer must a been damp. But I say, now, friend Simmons, you'll let me have another trial. You won't take all that's poor seller's got on airth, just on account of the quicksilver's bein' damp?"

"Oh, no," said the good-natured Simmons, "you may try every day for a week—your board and your horse's feed shall cost you nothing, but at the end of that time I must either have your goods, or you my fify dollars."

Mr. Joel Spry concluded the bargain with some apparent hesitation, but seemed resolved to make the best of a bad case.—Every night Spry's barometer was pitted against old blind Jake's toes, and regularly every morning Spry's toes came off victorious.

Spry, who ate all the while like a horse, and actually commenced getting fat, declared on every successive morning that he should be ruined past redemption.

He tore his hair, clenched his hands, cursed old Jake for a hogbin; and swore that had he been born in Salem, he would have been hung for a wizard. At last the seventh day came.

It had rained for six days previous without intermission, and now, friend Simmons, you'll let me have another trial. You won't take all that's poor seller's got on airth, just on account of the quicksilver's bein' damp?"

NEW MARKET-HOUSE.

Whether we shall have a new Market-house in the town of Wilmington—where it ought to be located—should a new one be built—what kind of a market-house it should be—are questions which are now agitating the minds of our citizens. That the old market-house is entirely unsuited for the purposes for which it was originally erected, in the now increased and increasing population and business of our town, is, we believe, the almost unanimous sentiment of our citizens. That we very badly want a larger and more commodious building, as well for the accommodation of those who have articles to sell, as for those who wish to purchase, is, we think, perfectly clear. But the question is, where should the new building be located? With a view, we suppose, to ascertain what the wishes and the feelings of the citizens on this subject are, the Commissioners called a meeting by public advertisement. This meeting was held in the Masonic Hall on Saturday last. We were not present, but learn that the action taken by this meeting was to the effect that the Commissioners purchase a piece of ground lying in the centre of the recently burned square. This newly proposed site for the market would have about 75 feet on Front street, and the same on the wharf, and would, of course, run through the whole square.

In conversing with a number of our citizens, we find that there is a good deal of dissatisfaction at the action of the meeting, and a good deal of opposition to the contemplated location. Those who are opposed to the site proposed by the meeting of Saturday night, say, in the first place, that the notice for the call of the meeting was entirely too short, and in the second place, that the time, Saturday night, was an unfavorable one for eliciting the sentiments of the citizens. They object too, that the position is by no means central, and that other places could be selected, which would better meet the wishes of those interested. Another objection which we have heard urged is, that the town would be compelled to incur too heavy a debt, were the contemplated project carried out—that to purchase the proposed site would require a much larger sum of money than an equally good one could be procured for at other and more convenient points. We think, in a matter of this kind, deeply important it is to all the citizens of Wilmington, their wishes should be clearly ascertained, and we trust the Commissioners will not take any steps in the matter before they are satisfied that they are acting in accordance with those wishes. Where the market-house ought to be located, we do not pretend to say; but we go in for a new and a commodious one somewhere. We may have more to say on the subject again.

New Company.

We have been informed that a new Company has been formed by several of our enterprising business men for the navigation of the Cape Fear River, under the title of "The Cape Fear Navigation Company." The object of this Company is to place boats upon the river of such light draught as will secure navigation at almost every stage of the water. For this purpose new Lighters, of the very lightest draught, have been contracted for; and a gentleman has gone on to the North to purchase a new steamer of the very least possible draught that can be procured. The steamer Cotton Plant, belonging to the Company, is now undergoing a thorough repair. We learn that the Company will be ready to go into operation by the first of next month. By this new arrangement, greatly increased facilities will be afforded to our back country friends for getting their goods from Wilmington. We wish the new Company all manner of success, and that its operations may prove profitable to itself and advantageous to the community at large.

Semi-weekly Standard.—As we desire very much to issue the Standard twice a week, as well as once a week, and as it would not be right to vary the contract, without the consent of the subscribers, by sending them the paper twice a week at an advanced price, and as we do not wish, moreover, to discriminate between them by sending some of the Weekly and some of the Semi-Weekly, we most respectfully and earnestly request all who are willing to take the Semi-Weekly at $5 per annum, to inform us of the fact by letter or otherwise, between this and the 8th of January, 1846. We hope our friends will make the experiment, and let us see whether sufficient encouragement will be extended to justify a semi-weekly issue. Please remember that postage must be paid on all letters not containing money.

It will be seen from the above, that the enterprising Editor of the Raleigh Standard is about to publish his paper semi-weekly. We hope that he may receive sufficient encouragement to induce him to do so. The Standard is an able and fearless exponent of Democratic principles, and we think every Democrat in the State ought to feel called upon to lend a helping hand to the new project. The Whig party support a semi-weekly paper at the seat of Government, and we think the Democracy of North Carolina should take a pride in not being behind hand in patronizing the press.

We would beg leave to correct friend Payne's "CORRECTION" of Saturday last. When the defendant introduces no testimony he has an absolute right to the reply or last speech. In the case in point, as Eramber's Counsel introduced no witnesses they were entitled to reply, and Judge Strange was compelled to make the first speech, and could not, as the lawyers say, conclude.

We say to the Raleigh Register that he is entirely mistaken when he says that the author of "Sampson," (recommending Mr. Avery as the Democratic candidate for Governor,) is a citizen of Raleigh. So Mr. Register, you must look at the "ear marks" again.

Our Rail Road.

We noticed the meeting of the Stockholders of the Wilmington and Raleigh Rail Road in our last. The amount of stock represented was not very large. We may sum up the business transacted at the meeting, in a few words, by stating that the Report of the Directors, giving an account of the operations of the Company, was read, and approved of, we believe, and that the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: E. B. Dudley, President; P. K. Dickinson, Sam'l' Potter, Jas. Hill, James T. Miller, O. G. Parley, and Gilbert Potter, by the individual Stockholders; and Jas. Griswold, Edward D. Hall, Jas. S. Battle, and A. J. DeRease, appointed by the Board of Internal Improvements on behalf of the State, as Directors. Below we give an abstract of the statistical portion of the Report of the Board of Directors, shewing the present state of the affairs of the Company.

FLORIDA ELECTION AGAIN.

Well it does really seem that we are never to know with any thing like certainty, whether the Whig (Clegg), or the Democratic (Brockenbrough), candidate for Congress is elected. A few weeks ago our opponents were crowning over a triumph; then the tables seemed to have turned, and we were equally certain that the Democrat was elected; then again, for some days past, it has been a matter of doubt which was the man. In the Charleston Mercury of the 17th inst., we find the following paragraph, which would put the matter at rest, were it not that we learn that Brockenbrough intends to contest the seat at the meeting of the House of Representatives. He alleges that he has been unfairly dealt with:

"At last we have got out of the woods. Clegg, the Whig candidate, has received the Governor's certificate as member-elect to Congress. His official majority is 51 votes. Several small election districts have made no returns. If the votes of these can be taken into account in the House of Representatives, they may ultimately give the seat to Brockenbrough."

Hon. John C. Calhoun.—Various rumors have gone abroad as to the probabilities of this distinguished statesman again taking a seat in the U. S. Senate. Every where, and from all parties, we hear an expression of gratification at the prospect of his great mind being again brought into requisition in our national councils. We know that the information will be received with general approbation that he is to return to the Senatorial station during the ensuing session of Congress. Judge Huger, the present Senator from this State, having finally determined to carry out his long-desired wish of retiring from office, held, for some time past, only at the especial desire of his constituents. We have this information from a source which can be relied on."

The above paragraph is from the Charleston Courier of Monday last, and we know that the information it conveys will be hailed with extreme gratification by our readers. For ourselves, we are much pleased. The approaching session of Congress will be one of deep interest to the country. The great questions of domestic policy, which, for years past, have been agitating the country, will be once more brought before the collective wisdom of the nation, for its solemn, and we trust, final arbitrament. The great battle will be once more waged with all its fierceness, on the floors of Congress. In a word, all the great issues which divide the republican and the federal parties, will be subjects of debate and legislation during the coming session. Add to this the subject of our foreign relations, growing out of the Oregon question, and it must appear at a glance that the 29th Congress is destined to be one of the most important, in the consequences of its deliberations, which has convened since the constitution was ratified. How important then is it, that the wisest heads and most patriotic hearts should be members of that body. Amongst these, John C. Calhoun ranks second to none in the country. What a flood of light will his gigantic intellect throw over the complicated questions upon which he will be called to deliberate.—How particularly serviceable will his great abilities be to the interests of the South, especially when the subject of the tariff comes up for discussion. We trust that the Courier's information may be correct, and that we will see the Palmetto State once more represented by her two gifted sons, Calhoun and McDuffie.

Mr. McLane.

A report having got abroad that our Minister in England, Mr. McLane, was dissatisfied with his position, because it was allotted to him by the government, and that he was not entrusted with the negotiation of the Oregon question; and further, that he had expressed a desire to return home, the Union of the 17th inst., thus puts to rest these idle and false rumors:

The wholly false report that this gentleman is dissatisfied in his present position, and that he wishes to return to this country, because he is not intrusted with the settlement of the Oregon question, has run the rounds of the whole whig press. It is reiterated again in every variety of form, and we notice that it is this morning repeated in the Intelligencer.

The attention of Congress appeared to be very much occupied with the details of the tariff, the friends of protection, as we should call it here, resisting an immediate alteration of the rates of duties promulgated upon several specified articles.

Among the members elect to the next Senate of Mexico we note the names of Generals Bustamante, Almonte, Pedraza, Cuevas, and others whose names are familiar in the United States.

The papers of Vera Cruz are clamorous for the Government to proceed in the matter of the projected railroad between that port and the capital. The fear is, that unless the present opportunity of constructing the road be embraced, foreign capitalists will not again be found ready to embark in so extensive a project. The railroad is a thoroughly English design, and should be watched in its progress.

Great complaints are made that the troops in San Juan de Ulua, and in the vicinity of Vera Cruz, are greatly suffering for want of clothing. The Government is called upon loudly to supply money at least for the necessities of existence for the troops.

El Siglo XIX. and others are sharply reminding the government, that the expedition against the Californias, which was authorised six months ago, has not yet set forth. When will it proceed? they ask derisively.

The ravages of the Indians in the departments of Durango, Zacatecas, and elsewhere, were continued with their wonted atrocities. A large number of people have been murdered and an immense amount of booty has been carried off by them. The people, in their extremity, call upon the General Government for aid, and it is suggested and urged upon it that the militia of the Departments should be organized to meet this particular and ever recurring calamity. In the engagements which have taken place, between the savages and the people assembled to resist them, the former have been uniformly successful. The people work in the last extremity from fear.

Charcoal for Wheat.—The Genesee Farmer states that near Sandusky, Ohio, charcoal ground fine, has been applied to wheat-fields with signal success. The average yield of four pieces, grown by Mr. Hayward, of Buffalo, to which 25 bushels of charcoal per acre had been applied, was 27½ bushels per acre, while on three other pieces without coal, the average yield was only 4 bushels per acre. Mr. Hayward will apply 10,000 bushels of coal to wheat fields this autumn. He grinds it in a common bark mill used by tanners.

Senators from New Hampshire.—We see from the Boston Courier, that the Governor of New Hampshire (Steele) has appointed Benjamin W. Jenness to fill the seat in the United States Senate, vacated by the appointment of Levi Woodbury to the bench of the Supreme Court of the United States.

More CARELESSNESS.—Week before last, a boy living in Gates county, N. C., who was amusing himself with a gun, which he supposed to be empty, placed a cap on the nipple, and turning to a young lady named Mary Overman, said playfully, "Cousin Mary, I'm going to shoot you," firing at the same moment. The contents lodged in the poor girl's face, tearing away the entire side of it. Two hours afterwards, she expired, after having

An Obstinate Jury.—The Jury in the case of C. P. Shirer vs. Administrators of L. Austin, in an action of assumpsit, went out of Court yesterday at 1 o'clock, P. M. and after remaining locked up during the whole night, rendered a verdict for the defendants this morning at half-past seven. One of the jurors had a fit in the course of the night. It is a great pity that some method could not be invented, of a sort of intellectual rail-road, by which people could be enabled to make up their opinions at once. The old system of starving out juries, sending them to their rooms without fire or light, bread or water has failed. Men with empty stomachs are apt to be cross and obstinate. It has been supposed that in some few instances of strange verdicts lately given in the Courts of the country, that the juries have had recourse to the system of drawing straws, or tossing a quarter of a dollar. Such a plan if generally adopted would greatly expedite the course of law, if not of justice.— At all events it would come up as well to the original idea of a trial by jury, as that now in use of deciding by the vote of a majority.

Charleston News.

Silk.—It is stated that the amount of silk raised in the United States during the past year, was three hundred and ninety six thousand, seven hundred and ninety pounds. Silk raising promises to be an important business.

Several silk raisers from the north and east have gone to Virginia, where they anticipate doing well. There are eight silk factories in the town of Mansville, Conn., and all the works continue to increase. +

Wool in Ohio.—The Cincinnati Chronicle says that upwards of 2,000,000 pounds are annually produced in that State. A Mr. Hildebrand, of Stark County, recently sold the entire fleece of his flock to one of the Lowell manufacturing companies, at one dollar per pound—three times the common price. The wool was of a very superior quality.

Take Care Boys!—A suit for damages for breach of promise of marriage has just been tried in the Wayne County Court, in Ohio. Miss Mary Fleming against Thompson Eckhart, in which the jury gave a verdict of $2,240 for the fair plaintiff.

Husband, do you believe in special judgments of Providence upon individuals in this life?

Yes, my dear.

Do you, indeed? Did one of the judgments ever happen to you?

Yes, my love.

When was it, husband?

When I married you, my dear.

Every good wife and pretty girl should have a flower-garden. Scraps of time cannot be more pleasantly or appropriately occupied by them, than in attending to this department.

Cotton—Aggregate sales of the week 10,671 bales, against the receipt in the same time, of 10,613 bales. The following quotations will give a true index of the state of the market at the close of the week— inferior and ordinary 5 1/2 a 6 1/2; middling to middling fair 6 1/2 a 6 4 1/2; fair to fair 7 1/2; good fair and fine 7 3/4 a 7 1/2.
Rice—There has been a reduction in the Rice-market, since our report of the 8th inst., as the excitement which then prevailed has not only entirely subsided, but the market has become rather languid. At the opening of the present week former prices were sustained, but within a few days purchasers have occasionally obtained a slight advantage in their operations, particularly on the lower grades but the reduction is not so decided a character as to induce us to change our quotations, and we would still refer to them as a fair criterion of the market. The receipts since our last are 2,307 bales, as follows—100 bales at 4 7-16; 22 at 4 140; 50 at 4 8-16; 265 at 4 11-16; 624 at 4 8-16; 40 at 4 13-16; 228 at 4 1/2; and 95 bales at $5 per hundred.
Rough Rice—The new crop is now coming freely to market. The receipts of the week just closed may be put down at fully 55,000 bushels. The transactions since our last are as follows—4,000 bushels at 112 1/2; 3,000 at 115; 4,500 at 120; 1,700 at 123; 3,300 at 125; and 10,200 bushels at 126 per bushel, with one or two strictly choice cargoes on terms not made public.
Grain—We are without the receipt of Corn during the week, and as we have no actual sales to record, present quotations must be considered nominal. There have arrived since our last about 1,800 bushels Maryland Oats, which changed hands at 44c. and 1,100 bushels ordered by a dealer. Some 1,800 bushels Peas have been received, and disposed of within the range of our quotations, viz: 60 & 62c. per bushel.
Bacon—We are still without any transactions to reports and in the present stagnant state of the market, it is impossible to give quotations with any accuracy, and present rates are nominal.
Lard—There has been less inquiry for this article since our last, than for the previous fortnight, and while we continue former figures, would remark that the transactions of the week have been confined to small lots for the city trade at prices ranging from 8d to 9c. per pound.

NAVAL STORES—Turpentine remains without change, there being little or none here in first hands, excepting some in yard which is still withheld from the market. The difficulty of procuring freight, however, would tend to prevent any extensive operations at present, as most of that previously reported, still remains on hand from his cause. We notice sales of 1,000 bales, Washington at $3.75 per cwt.; 280 lbs. and 1,200 Swansboro, on terms not made public. Spirits Turpentine is not so active, and we have only to report some in small lots at 63 a 65 cents, cash and 4 mos. We have no further sales of Tar or Rosin.
Rice—For the new crop of good to prime quality, there is a fair demand, also for the best descriptions of the old, while inferior parcels are neglected. We notice sales of about 560 tcs. at $4.50 a $5.183, cash. We do not yet have our quotations, although there is none in market which would bring our extreme limit.
FAYETTEVILLE MARKET—Nov. 18.

WILMINGTON MARKET—Nov. 20.
No rain having fallen since our last report, the rivers continue very low, and there is therefore little produce arriving. We give below a succinct statement of the markets as they are.
NAVAL STORES— Sales of Turpentine have been made during the past week at $3 50 to $3 60. This morning we learn that 500 barrels were sold at $3 56. This we quote as the market price.
TAR— Sales, the last we have to report, were made on yesterday at $1 75. Bars on the market.
Rosin— Common Rosin we quote as per last report. We have not heard of any sales during the last week.
Spirits Turpentine— No sales to report. We think 55c. is about the price.
TIMBER & LUMBER— Some six or eight rafes of Timber have come down since our last report, which sold readily at $6 to $7 for fair qualities. The last sales we have to report were made at $6 1/2. Some inferior lots have been sold at $5 to $5 1/2. The present price for fair Mill timber we put at $6 to $7. River Lumber—Little or none of this article has arrived since our last report. We quote the price as follows—Flooring boards $13 1/2 to $14. Scantling $6. Wide boards $7.
CORN— No arrivals. None afoot. Retailing being out of the stores at 80c.
GROUND PEAS— Coming freely to market, and selling at from 70 to 75c.
SHINGLES— Of this article, sales were made this morning of two lots, one at $3, and one at $3 25. We quote at from $2 75 to $3 25, according to quality.
STAVES— Very few coming to market and in demand. On Monday last, a superior lot of R. O. dressed brought $22. We put the price of a fair article of Staves at $18 to $20.

POETRY.

From the New York Mirror.

AUTUMNAL HARPINGS.

BY JEROME A. MARY.

Oh ! glorious is the Autumn day !
When on the forest bowers,
The morn's mellow sunlight,
Its noontide splendor showers;
On maple, birch, and tulip tree
Such dyes and tintsings glow,
We well might deem that Eden birds
Were lit on every bough !

Oh ! lovely is the Autumn eve !
When hues of parting day
Seem like gleaming angel wings
Shed over sweet decay —

And wooded knoll and granite pile,
Hill, stream, and winding shore,
With clouds of floating amber
Are softly curtain'd o'er.

Oh ! solemn is the Autumn night !

When through the moonlit air,
The leaves from off their trembling hold

Go slowly—here and there—

And sultry breezes wander

With a miserere moan,

As the dying breath of leaves and flowers

Will give in the tone !

Oh ! meet in Autumn 'tis to die !

I, too, would pass away,

When all bright things and beautiful

Yield to the spoiler's sway;

And then I'd feel my life, like theirs,

Unfailing, pure and true,

Soon, too, where dwells the Pleiad host,

To spring like light anew !

THE MAIDEN'S PRAYER.

BY JOHN O. WHITIER.

She rose from her delicious sleep,
And put away her soft brown hair,
And in a tone as low and deep
As love's first whisper, breathed a prayer,
Her snow white hands together pressed,
Her blue eyes sheltered in the lid,
The folded linen on her breast,
Just swelling with the charms it hid,
And from her long and flowing dress
Escaped a bare and snowy foot,
Whose step upon the earth did press
Like a snow flake, white and mute :
And then from slumbers soft and warm,
Like a young spirit fresh from heaven,
She bowed that slight and matchless form,
And humbly prayed to be forgiven.
O, God ! if souls unsoiled as these,
Need daily mercy from thy throne;
If she upon her bended knees—
Our holiest and purest one;
She with a face so pure and bright,
We deem her some stay child of light;
If she with those soft eyes in tears,
Day after day, in her young years,
Must kneel and pray for grace from Thee,
What far, far greater need have we ?
How hardly, if she win not heaven,
Will our wild errors be forgiven !

AGRICULTURAL.

Pickling Eggs.—The Farmers' dames in some parts of Hampshire, Eng., in their notable endeavours to turn every thing to good account, have acquired much fame for pickling eggs, which, whilst they constitute a somewhat novel feature in the catalogue of condiments, are at the same time particularly relishing. When eggs are plenty, they take from four to six dozen of such as are newly laid, and boil them hard; then, divesting them of the shells, they place them in large mouthed earthen jars, and pour upon them scalded vinegar, well seasoned with whole pepper, allspice, ginger, and a few cloves of garlic. When the pickle is cold, the jars are closed, and the eggs will be fit for use in a month afterwards. The eggs thus treated are held in high esteem by all the farm house epicures in that part of England.

Preservation of Pumpkins.—This Fall let every farmer gather as many of his best matured pumpkins as will suffice to supply his stock with a mess daily through the winter, and deposite them carefully in a close and secure repository, according to the following succinct, and definite rules: 1st, lay a stratum of butts of straw from the threshing floor, one foot thick; on this stratum deposit another of pumpkins, and cover them with another layer of straw, and so on to the end of your heap.

In this way, pumpkins may be preserved most of the year, as sweet and fresh as when taken from the field. Try it, friends, and not leave anything to be discovered by accident, as is the case with experiments in agriculture generally.—Selected.

Iron a Remedy for Blight in Pear Trees.—A correspondent states that he has found iron ore, or cinders of iron, placed around the roots of trees, drives away the insect which deposits the eggs that produce the worm. Having tried this remedy in a sandy soil, and in a stiff soil and in places distant from each other, and having driven off the insect when the trees of others were very much injured or destroyed in the neighborhood, he advises all those who are troubled by these insects, to try the use of iron, rather than be under the necessity of continually topping off the limbs which contain the worm or young insect. He thinks it probable that the iron is unfavorable to the worm, which drops from the branches, and makes its wintering place at the root of the tree, and then the insect avoids an unfavorable place for its young. But whatever may be the theory, it is sufficient that iron has the desired effect.—London Gardener's Gazette.

Hints to Housekeepers.—Woolens should be washed in very hot suds and not rinsed.

Lukewarm water shrinks them. Suet keeps good all the year round, if chopped and packed in a stone jar, and covered with molasses. When Molasses is used in cooking, it is a prodigious improvement to boil and skin it before you use it. It takes out the unpleasant raw taste, and makes it almost as good as sugar. Use hard soap to wash your clothes and soft to wash your floors. Soft soap is so slippery that it wastes a good deal in washing clothes. It is easy to have a supply of horse radish all winter, have a quantity grated while the root is in perfection, put it in bottles, fill it with vinegar, and keep it corked tight. Do not wrap knives and forks in woolens; wrap them in strong paper. Steel is injured by laying in woolens.—American Traveler.

Culture of Cabbages by Ships.—The London Gardener's Chronicle gives the following directions: Cut off healthy sprouts close to the stalk of the cabbage; let them lie in a dry cold place two or three days. Plant, and they require no further trouble. Valuable sorts may thus be preserved unchanged, and a regular succession obtained throughout the year.

Useful if true.—It is said that a spoonful of horse-radish put into a pan of milk will preserve it sweet for several days, either in the open air or in a cellar, while other milk will sour.
